

CASP Workshop Learn your frog calls!

Calling Amphibian Survey Program

Cape Fear Botanical Garden, Fayetteville  March 30, 2015

Where: Cape Fear Botanical Garden, Fayetteville, N.C.

When: March 30, 2015, 6 p.m to 9 p.m.

Leader: Jeff Hall & Mike Campbell,
N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission

Overview: Class will spend time inside learning frog and toad identification and ecology and FrogWatch and CASP protocols. The class will conclude with outdoor field study.

Target Audience: Conservation-minded citizens age 16 and older interested in learning more about frogs, including those who are interested in volunteering for frog monitoring programs, and volunteers who are already involved in frog call programs who'd like to brush up on their skills.

More Info: Dress for the weather. Bring a bag dinner and prepare to learn more about these voices of the night.

To register: The workshop is free for Cape Fear Botanical Garden members; $15 for others. Registration is required. Pre-registration is required by phone (910) 486-0221 ext. 20 or email to info@capefearbg.org

Sponsors: The N.C. Wildlife Resources Commission
N.C. Partners in Amphibian and Reptile Conservation
Cape Fear Botanical Garden, Fayetteville

